Reggello Setteponti is an interesting, fully renovated old mill, totaling approximately 250 square meters. The property is divided into four residential units and comprises a central house on three levels. On the ground floor, there is an entrance hall, a living room with a fireplace, an eat-in kitchen, and a dining room. Upstairs, there are three bedrooms and a large master bathroom with a whirlpool tub. On the ground floor, there are two two-room apartments with bathrooms, currently used for seasonal rentals. A second unit, almost directly on the stream, is very charming and romantic, consisting of a three-room apartment; and the third unit is a two-room apartment with a bathroom, also used for hospitality purposes. The property includes one hectare of land, mostly planted with olive trees, which is partially fenced. There are also two tool sheds and an above-ground pool in need of restoration. This is an excellent property to view.
